CREATION MOMENTS

Proclaiming Evidence for Truth

THIS WEEK'S CREATION MOMENT

The Puzzle of Mathematics

And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. (Genesis 1:31a)

When a clothing manufacturer selects a high-quality fabric, he is usually concerned enough to make sure that good workmanship goes into the final product. In a similar way, the fabric of the creation tells us a lot about its Creator. Mathematics, more than anything else, reflects the fabric of the creation.

Many scientists today are puzzled by the fact that the material world they study can be accurately described in mathematical equations. The falling of a stone or a feather, even the colors of a rainbow, all correspond to mathematical formulae. Even chaos has a mathematical description. One Nobel physicist was moved to write a paper titled, "The Unreasonable Effectiveness of Mathematics in the Natural Sciences."

Because mathematics so precisely describes reality, we can send a space probe billions of miles, on perfect target. Mathematics allows us to receive the pictures it returns to Earth using a transmitter no more powerful than a five-watt light bulb. As one science writer put it, scientists use mathematics as a wonderful gift, but they have no idea why it works so well.

Of course, creation-scientists don't wonder why math works. They know that the creation is the work of an orderly and wise Creator Who was pleased with His final product. The precision of mathematics reflects the excellent quality of His fine workmanship.

Trip to Bethlehem

December 10th (Saturday) we will be taking a group to Troy First Baptist Church to their Journey to Bethlehem. It's a quarter mile outdoor walk back in time. You get to experience what it might have been like for Jewish families to travel for the census and end where Mary and Joseph had Jesus. There is a small concert while you are waiting for your group to be called in the journey and at the end there is hot chocolate and cookies inside. We will leave the church at 4:30pm. The drive to Troy is about an hour.

Christmas Cards for Veterans

We would like to send Christmas cards to veterans this year. If you have extra cards, please place them on the table in the lobby along with the names and address of any veterans and those currently serving you would like to receive a card. We are also looking for volunteers to help fill out and address the cards. The contact person is Debbie Plummer 513-619-8108.

Lottie Moon Christmas Offering

The International Missions week of prayer is 11/27 – 12/4. Please help support our international missionaries with prayer and a generous offering for the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering.
